

KEY LARGO CORAL RESTORATION TRAINING

September 22-27, 2017

$970.00

*Price based on Double Occupancy
Single Supplement $250.00*

$30.00 Discount for Dive Club members!

Coral reefs are some of the oldest and most diverse ecosystems on the planet. For decades, scuba divers have been drawn to the beauty of the coral and the vast amount of marine life living among the reef. But these important ecosystems are in danger. Due to multiple stressors, the coral reefs are declining dramatically. But there is hope! Through innovative techniques developed through the Coral Restoration Foundation, the reefs are headed on a path to natural recovery.

YOU CAN PLAY AN IMPORTANT ROLE IN RESTORING THE CORAL REEFS!

Join a group of High Plains Scuba divers as they are trained in ground-breaking techniques for growing, maintaining and outplanting coral to the reefs in Key Largo, Florida. Through the guidance of the Coral Restoration Foundation, you can make a difference in bringing the coral reefs back to their original vibrant condition!

Package Includes:

- Five nights at the Key West Inn
- Two days of training and diving with the Coral Restoration Foundation (4 dives)
- One 2-tank boat dive with Rainbow Reef Dive Center
- Tanks, weights and weight belt
- PADI Distinctive Speciality Certification for Coral Restoration
- Hotel parking
- High Plains Scuba Trip Leader

A $500 non-refundable deposit per person will reserve your space.

Full balance due August 22, 2017.

Prices and dates subject to change without notice.

Package Does Not Include:

- Roundtrip airfare between Denver and Miami
- Roundtrip transportation between Miami and Key Largo
- Food and Beverages
- Personal dive equipment
- Additional diving not specified
- Gratuities
- Baggage Fees
- Additional taxes & airline fuel surcharges
- Travel and Dive Insurance

We can book your airfare too!

High Plains Scuba · 115 W. Harvard St. · Fort Collins, CO 80525 · (970) 493-8562